

Group Dynamic Report

My partners and I worked very well together. We are all very eager to put efforts into the project and arranged many meetings for this project, and we even met twice in final period, which I never did before. I guess every one pretty much put the same amount of effort into the project because we all really care about this course. Wendy Jiang and I are mainly responsible for the processing of data, while Tina Tu did much of the writing because she feels confident about her writing. For details, Tina are always patient and set high standards for our projects, which make our technical report to be better and better; while Wendy is totally very hardworking. In addition, I always put my efforts on our projects and set my targets each time in advance. I really think that all group members have contributed significantly to the project, and if I have to estimate the percentage of the total amount of work or effort done by each member, I would assign:

33.3% for Wendy Jiang, 33.3% for Tina Tu, and 33.3% for myself.

I definitely would like to work with group members like Tina and Wendy next time if I'm required to do group work in Statistics class!
